Notes From The Rectory

March is a time to see things different

March heralds new hope and the dawn of spring! Huzzah! With it brings the opportunity to look at our life and surroundings with new eyes. The hedgerows and trees bloom and puff with green and the garden gains the vibrant colours it has been hungry for, for months.

Equally, we have tried hard as your church to develop and nurture numerous opportunities to look at faith differently too.

Hallikeld Heroes is a vibrant and informal style of church perfect for families or indeed those of the older generation who enjoy being part of multi-generational mixing. The music and the craft and the stories and music enable all to explore faith at their level. This time together is rapidly becoming the largest worship service in the benefice!

Our Maundy Thursday Meal is a bring and share meal in church, musing on the readings of Jesus' last supper, enjoying each other's company and experiencing a surprising and poignant end to the evening.

The Good Friday Service will be an opportunity to explore and meditate on the central moment of the Christian faith, the cross, giving you space and time to engage with God in your own time.

The Easter Passion Play will put Easter on the cultural map equal to the nativity at Christmas. It will contain fun, energy and joy all on a par with our very successful Nativity Play. Come and join us and partake in the Easter Narrative.

The Pickhill Easter Sunrise Service takes church outside into the churchyard and overlooking Sutton Bank to await the sun. We celebrate a new dawn physically and spiritually.

You would be so welcome to join us at any of the above services. March is a time to see things differently, to re-remember what is important in life and enjoy all the opportunities around us. Grasp life this March, live to the full and come and join us to experience faith in a new way.

Children's Society - Collection of boxes in April and New Volunteer needed

It is time to coordinate the collecting of the house boxes in April. Thank you to all who have supported me with the Christingle and boxes but I now need to hand this project/task to someone else. If anyone is interested, please email me on alison.carter44@googlemail.com. Or phone me on 01677 470538.

Celebrating the Bellringing in our Benefice by Chris Ferguson, Sutton Howgrave

I am aware that not everybody always appreciates the sound of church bells in their or a nearby village, but please may I say – if only on behalf of myself & Jacqueline – that we feel that they provide a really positive contribution to life in the area. To us they evoke memories of childhood in a different district. They provide a comforting, if sometimes nostalgic, sound which we cherish. As with any musical instrument, a certain level of skill, practice and commitment is required. Jacqueline & I would certainly not presume to speak on behalf of anyone else, but as far as we are concerned, we feel that our local bellringers are a real asset & we would like to say so. Although church bells are essentially religious in origin, there is something about their reassuring tones that surely transcends this (if one is allowed to say that...?)

Free Pressure Washer Training for Farmers – 21 March 2024

If you're a farmer you represent approximately 1.8% of the workforce in GB but accounts for about 19% of the reported fatal injuries each year. Farmers spend a lot on tractors, livestock & land, but don't invest much on training. If you're a farmer who operates a pressure washer to clean farm buildings, jet out drains, wash out pipes blocked, do you realise that staff need to be trained? "Oh, I have always done that job, I know what I'm doing, I'll be all right, I don't need to go on a training course, it costs money". Here's an offer that won't cost the first 10 farming folk any money. Contact Hydroblast on 01677 428780

Quitoes is a growing sport that combines fun, gamesmanship, sociability and community involvement all while supporting your local Country Pub. If you don't mind getting your hands slightly dirty it is a game that can suit most ages from teenager upwards and both sexes (most people will be amazed how many extremely good lady players there are in our league). Kirklington is a new team in the LDQL (Lower Dales Quitoes League) starting only last year for the 2023 Season - the 2023 team surprised The League, The Black Horse and 'Themselves' by winning four major

Of Interest...

This month Dr. Roger Key

We've been at Carthorpe since Christmas Eve 2008 – before that Rosy & I both worked for Natural England (Government Conservation agency) in Peterborough and we still work voluntarily in nature conservation, including UK overseas territories (especially St Helena these days) and also do children's work with bugs.

Invasion of the pongy Paradoxical Leek

It's smelly leek time again at Kirklington and Carthorpe. In the next month the Green and churchyard, along with and the roadsides between and around both villages and some unfortunate people's gardens, will be covered in greeny-cream leaves and flowers of Paradoxical, or Few-flowered, Leek. (Allium paradoxum). Later on, the Green will be mown, releasing its pungent not-quite-as nice as garlic smell that lasts for several days. Not to be confused with the native Wild Garlic, which has much wider leaves, starry white flowers and lives in woodland, Paradoxical Leek is similarly edible, though nowhere near as pleasantly tasty as its woodland cousin.

It comes originally from the Caucasus mountains and was first brought to Edinburgh in 19th century and has managed to spread right across Britain and made itself a nuisance more or less ever since. So much so that it is actually now illegal to plant it or let it escape in the wild, under the Wildlife and Countryside Act, in the same league as the infamous Japanese Knotweed, Giant Hogweed and Himalayan Balsam.

As anyone who has had it invade their garden knows, it becomes nigh on impossible to get rid of once it gets established. It suppresses the grass and can eliminate less vigorous wildflowers and garden plants. Each flower head produces not seeds, but perfect little 'bulbils', which the plant leans over and 'plants' up to a foot away, and so it spreads. Being round, the bulbils can easily roll or blow along a roadside – hence its colonization of the verges from Kirklington to Carthorpe, while mowing after it has started to flower will guarantee its spread from the bulbils amongst the mowings. Some people may be tempted to collect it and try it in their garden. Please don't - be warned! Once it's there, unless you're prepared to resort to nasty chemical treatments, you (and almost inevitably, eventually your neighbors), will have got it forever.

Dr Roger Key
